PLANNED UNIT DEVELOPMENT SUMMARY

This PUD is a pedestrian friendly neo-traditional mixed-use development. While combining traditional residential neighborhoods with neo-traditional commercial development, this PUD may also include; single-family residential, duplex residential, condominiums, townhomes, apartments, commercial, office, institutional, and an area for active as well as passive recreation and community type activities.

The New Berlin City Center Development is a village atmosphere with a mix of distinct areas as outlined in the City Center Land Use Map Exhibit G (See the City of New Berlin 2020 Comprehensive Plan as a whole and Chapter 15 – Neighborhood E – National Avenue East Corridor), which is incorporated within this PUD. The New Berlin City Center Development will consist of common open space, plazas, central community use, a retail/shopping area mixed with an office and/or professional office area, residential areas built as separate multiple-family or senior housing communities (as identified on the City Center Land Use Map Exhibit G), along with integrated residential areas (individual dwelling units built as part of the commercial development within City Center), and a single-family housing district.

The purpose of this Ordinance is to create zoning districts that allow for creative project design with mixed land uses to produce a well designed village layout in a neo-traditional* manner including; strict architectural standards for all new construction, tree-lined avenues, village greens, public open space, broad greenbelts and conservancy areas, while incorporating the limitations associated with the land and the economics of the marketplace. The key issues for the City of New Berlin and its residents are the mutual benefits associated with the roadway improvements to facilitate a safer environment, a city center/hub type identity for the City of New Berlin, a pedestrian friendly village atmosphere, joint/shared parking for the creation of a destination point effect along with open spaces for the promotion of pedestrian travel, the use of village type housing to create a welcoming ambiance for the developed setting. The development will achieve a cluster affect of specific uses that are tied together through high quality architecture as defined in the Design Guidelines (Exhibit H). The cluster effect also serves to define and protect the natural open spaces, which are part of the New Berlin City Center Development while at the same time providing storm water management, and passive recreational areas.

*Neo-traditional – An approach to land-use planning and urban design that promotes the building of neighborhoods with a mix of uses and housing types, architectural variety, a central public gathering place, interconnecting streets, and edges defined by greenbelts or boulevards. The basic goal is integration of the activities of potential residents with work, shopping, recreation, and transit all within walking distance.

Please refer to the Architecture Sections of this PUD for more specific architectural requirements.

The roadway connections of Michelle Witmer Memorial Drive, Library Lane, Wall Street, Howard Avenue and Wilbur Drive will provide connections to the New Berlin City Center from the North, South, East, and West of the development. These connections will help to alleviate traffic concerns in the area for the City.

Additionally, the project will facilitate the development of park lands and wetland enhancement through mitigation, as permitted by governing agencies, and the dedication of conservancy districts, as well as the added benefit of a new community use in the hub of the new "City Center" development.

This PUD shall provide mutual benefits for both the community and the developer as it evolves. It is understood that this project shall evolve over time and must remain flexible to incorporate as many goals of the City of New Berlin.
The maximum number of housing units permitted in the City Center shall be 310. Housing units constructed in the area zoned as R-4.5 in Exhibit D shall not be included for purposes of determining the maximum amount of housing units hereunder.

Along with any road extension and/or development proposals in the B-2/O-1/PUD, R-4.5/PUD, and C-1/C-2 PUD areas of the City Center, (lands in the southern half identified by the following tax keys: 1207-976; 1207-976-001; 1207-976-002; 1207-996-003, and 1207-976-004) development proposals shall be field verified for wetland and upland boundaries per Section 275-37B in addition to correctly verifying and surveying the zoning boundaries.

Any inconsistencies between the City Center Design Guidelines (as attached as Exhibit H) and this PUD shall be reconciled in favor of this PUD.
